

The Newport Mercury.

James P. Barnum, Editor and Proprietor. SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1884.

There will be nineteen ex-Confederate brigadier generals in the next house of Representatives.

There is a well authenticated rumor that St. John offered to sell out to the Republican party for $25,000 and that after the Ohio election he reduced his price to $10,000.

When Mr. Randall remarked to Democrats in Tammany Hall a few nights since, "The United States Treasury is overflowing," the report says that "there went up a whoop that lasted five minutes."

The Democrats of New York are talking of Ex-Senator Conkling as their candidate for Senator. If he runs the Republicans propose to put up Ex-President Grant or President Arthur against him.

New York evidently believes in beet-eloys. Lieut. Governor Daniel Hill, who will become Governor of New York when Governor Cleveland resigns, is also a beet-eloys and a woman hater. The woman suffragists would do well to cultivate his acquaintances.

Some of the Democrats in Newport, anxious to bury the Republican party, hang traps on the doors of several who have been somewhat active during the late campaign, last Saturday night. We simply rise to remark that our Democratic friends will find the Republican party a pretty lively corpse.

Cleveland will be a minority President and the majority against him will be larger than that against any other President for twenty years. His plurality over Blaine in the entire country is 4,690. The Butler and St. John vote, which will amount to some 200,000, puts Cleveland a long distance in the minority.

Senator Brown of Georgia the man who owns most of that red-hot rebel State, has been re-elected to the U. S. Senate. Brown was an anti-bellum governor, a rabid rebel during the war, an advanced Republican during reconstruction times and now is one of the most radical Democrats in Congress and probably about the richest man in that body.

Some of the New York papers have been publishing statements to the effect that James Gordon Bennett has been compelled to sell a one-third interest in the New York Herald to Mackay to pay his interest in the Bennett-Mackay Cable. These papers also predict that it will not be long before Mackay will own the entire Herald property.

More votes were cast for Mr. Blaine in nearly every State in the North than for President Garfield, and yet the Mugwump papers say that he was a weak candidate. We believe that no other man could have made such a brilliant contest as he has made and we predict that four years from now the name of Blaine will be the magic word which will lead the party on to victory.

It is beginning to come out, why some of the leading mugwumps supported Gov. Cleveland, namely, office. George William Curtis the boss mugwump has caused it to be announced that as a special favor to the new President, he will accept the mission to England. Charles Nordieff who wrote the Cleveland editorials in the Herald would like to go to Berlin, while Carl Schurz stands anxiously by and says "Barkis is willing"—to take anything.

The friends and fellow-citizens of Mr. Blaine surrounded him at his home in Augusta. He made to the assembled multitude one of the best speeches of the campaign. He told the country, and the Democracy in particular, some solid truths which it will be well for them to heed. Mr. Blaine through the whole campaign and during the trying times of uncertainty since the election has shown himself in every instance to be master of the situation. He never loses his head. In every capacity in which he is placed he shows the sterling qualities of an able and learned statesman. He will yet be President of these United States.

Bill Nye's Legal Experience.

It is true that I did practice law in the West for a short time, in a very quiet kind of a way. After a few months, however, I abandoned my lucrative practice to accept the portfolio of the Laramie City Postoffice. During my brief but tempestuous career as an attorney, I paid $120 for rent, and drew a chattel mortgage, which was never paid for, as near as I am able to judge. My principal reason, however, for abandoning the profession, was the sudden death of my only client.

Like the swift flight of a brilliant meteor across a black sky, I flashed through the heavens, lighting up the wide realms of space, and then disappeared forever. With thousands of other people to select from, death sought out the only client I ever had and gathered him in. With a world full of the aged and the sick, to say nothing of the Chinamen and Indians not taxed, the grim reaper struck his sickle into a man in whom I felt a wonderful interest. No one knows, who has not seen his sole client cut down before his face, the great sorrow that settles down upon the heart at such a time. How lonely my office seemed after that. How still it seemed. I could no longer endure it. I at once abandoned the profession to its fate.

Contrary to my fears, however, it soon rallied. Young blood entered into the practice, and in three months after I turned the key of my office door one would hardly notice that so recently a bright light in the legal profession had been quenched, and a clarion voice that had always rung out for eternal justice and equity, at so much per cent, had ceased to vibrate.

The U. S. Senator from Rhode Island.

Gov. Bourn has tendered the appointment of United States Senator from Rhode Island to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Anthony, to Hon. William P. Sheffield. In the exercise of the power vested in the governor to appoint, he took into consideration the expense of calling an extra session of the legislature, and concluded that the interests of the State would not suffer by this appointment. In the choice of Mr. Sheffield the State has gained a man of long experience in legislative matters, of great ability as a statesman and a conscientious servant of the people. Mr. Sheffield is as well and favorably known throughout the United States as any other man in the State. He is not a stranger in the halls of Congress, having served one term in the House of Representatives in the trying times of the Rebellion in 1862 and 1863. Mr. Sheffield has probably had more experience in our State legislature than any other man living and that ripe experience will aid him in his career in the United States Senate.

The Providence Journal speaks of his appointment in the following pleasing terms:

Governor Bourn, in the exercise of his constitutional authority, has appointed Hon. William P. Sheffield, of Newport, to fill the vacancy in the United States Senate caused by the death of Henry R. Anthony, until an election by the General Assembly. Mr. Sheffield is well known to the people of Rhode Island. He is descended from its best ancestry, and thoroughly native to his instincts as to his blood; for many years he has served the State in legislation and government, and exercised his strong powers of intellect and unwearied industry in defending and expounding its constitutional principles; he has also served with honor and ability in the halls of Congress. It will be his privilege to speak with friendship and intimate knowledge as with ability and feeling of his honored predecessor in the tribute that will be paid him in the scene of his labor and service, and will fulfill all the duties of his office with zeal and integrity.

The Providence Star also gives Mr. Sheffield a complimentary notice. It says:

Of Mr. Sheffield it is unnecessary to say much to the people of Rhode Island. They are familiar with his ability, his sterling worth as a man, and his fidelity as a legislator. He has served the State with marked faithfulness in the lower branch of the assembly, and left his impress on all the laws of this State for the last third of a century. He has also had experience in the outlying house of representatives, and is more familiar with national legislation, probably, than any man in this State not now in Congress. As a parliamentarian he will equal the best on the floor of the present senate. As a representative of the Rhode Island idea, his views are in full sympathy with those of the late Senator Anthony. Mr. Sheffield will make a faithful senator, and will zealously guard the good name and honor of his native State. His term in the senate, although brief, will fittingly round out the career of a natural statesman.

The Boston Advertiser says of his appointment:

Mr. Wm. P. Sheffield, of Newport, who has been appointed, by Governor Bourn to represent Rhode Island in the senate until the general assembly meets, will hardly fail to enlighten the senators upon many vague and controverted points in the early history of Rhode Island.

Mr. Sheffield's great learning and eloquence have so long been employed in representing Rhode Island, that he has come to believe firmly that the title State is as large as Texas.

And so it is—and larger too—in point of memories, of patriotic deeds, of great names contributed to the nation's roll of honor.

It is not alone square miles that make a State great. Its greatness should be measured by the space it occupies in the country's annals and not in its geography.

The Washington monument, now nearly completed, has attained a height of 520 feet and 10 inches, 5 feet 10 inches higher than the spire of the Cologne Cathedral. It is the highest structure in the world. On Washington's next birthday, it will be dedicated with imposing ceremonies, Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, who delivered the address at the laying of the corner stone, pronouncing the oration, probably the crowning effort of his life.

The Democratic Philadelphia Times—which gave to Gov. Cleveland a far abler, more sensible and helpful support than any of his New York organs— candidly observes:

It is now admitted that the tomfoolery and bigotry of Rev. Dr. Burchard, with his "Run, Romanism and Rebellion" speech of congratulation to Blaine, cost Blaine more than three times the votes by which he is defeated in New York and it pretty surely lost Connecticut to Blaine.

What is said to be the finest diamond in this country has been named the "Cleveland gem," in honor of the President-elect. In its rough state it weighed seventy-eight carats, and when properly cut will probably weigh between fifty and sixty carats. It is without a flaw, and when finished will be worth $40,000 or $50,000.

The report that an error of 350 votes in favor of Mr. Blaine had been discovered in Richmond County, N. Y., proves to have been without any special foundation. The error was simply an error in copying and the county clerk has been allowed to correct it. The result remains unchanged.

One of the most remarkable telegraphic feats on record was the recent delivery of a message from Melbourne, Australia, to London, England, in twenty-three minutes. It went, by land and sea, over 13,208 miles of wire.

The voting population of Mississippi by the last census was 238,352. At the last election 121,321 voters were polled—a few more than half the voters of the State. As soon as fraud becomes general at elections voting falls off.

Mrs. Jessie Benton Fremont, wife of General John C. Fremont, has recovered from her recent severe illness, and is at her home in Staten Island, N. Y.

A Blackfish Chase.

On Saturday, a large school of blackfish was sighted off Wood End Light, Provincetown, in a few minutes a number of vessels and whaleboats, manned by able seamen, some of whom it proved had not lived a lifetime in a whaling community for naught. No sooner was blood drawn than there was a frenzy, and as is the custom of the fish, all rushed in the direction of the wounded. A dozen, more or less, had been taken by sundown. It was hoped to drive them into Provincetown Bay, but this attempt was futile. On they sped, pursued and pursued, the fleet increasing from all along shore, while the shoal diminished. Twenty miles was soon covered, and they were off Brewster, where they were met by a low tide. In place of being driven ashore, which was the object of the pursuers, the fish made a turn right about face along the beach. About sixty were here killed, and then they headed for Wellfleet Bay, and went in on a flood tide. This had covered about thirty-six hours, and on Monday morning there was a wonderful sight. The Bay was literally full of fish, further than the eye could reach. Vessels and boats of all sizes, kinds and descriptions, men and boys, representing every trade and profession, and every available thing that could be used for killing was there. Men of experience used harpoons and spears. Others used sythes, knives, picks, daggers and axes. The shore was lined with carriages, carts, men, women and children. The whole town was in a hurry of excitement. All business ceased except the one business which was to "capture blackfish." The work continued until Tuesday afternoon, when it is supposed every fish was captured. Every town from Dennis to Provincetown was represented in the slaughter. The number is variously estimated at from 1200 to 1600, to be divided into 500 shares. The value will probably amount to $10,000 or $15,000.

Mr. William H. Vanderbilt is a rich but not a well man. The western trip he made last week was for the benefit of his health. His physicians think the car motion will tend to arrest a tendency to paralysis. Mr. Vanderbilt, it is said, was able for several days before he left New York, to take nothing but milk. Here is food for reflection for the workman with the digestion of an ostrich. Riches do not bring all things.

Mr. Butler was made happy Saturday by a decision in his favor of the famous suit of Samuel Strong, a contractor, against the District of Columbia, and which has been pending before the courts for the past twelve years. By the terms of the award, Strong was given $231,798.18, his claim being $407,466.93, but numerous set-offs on account of past payments were made by the referees who had it committed to him. This is the largest judgment ever given against the district.

A Democrat writing in the Washington Post Wednesday insists that after twenty-four years the Democrats should be allowed to enjoy the results of their victory, and that within one year at least from next March three-fourths of all the clerks must be discharged. These sentiments receive the cordial approval of the majority of the Democrats who do not doubt that there will be a clean sweep as soon as practical after March 4th.

Chief-Justice Greene, of Washington Territory, in his last charge to the Grand Jury, bears the following testimony as to the good effect of women serving on juries: "Twelve terms of court, ladies and gentlemen, I have now held, in which women have served as grand and petty jurors, and it is certainly a fact beyond dispute that no other twelve terms so satisfactory for the restraint of crime have ever been held in this Territory."

William K. Vanderbilt's million dollar palace on Fifth avenue, New York, is announced for sale. George J. Seney's splendid house is also for sale, and his fine picture gallery will soon pass under the hammer.

Ammonia in Baking Powders.

Among the recent discoveries in science and chemistry, none is more important than the one to which common ammonia can be properly put as a leavening agent, and which indicates that this familiar salt is better to be found an active part in the preparation of our daily food.

The carbonate of ammonia is an exceedingly volatile sub-salt. Since a small portion of it upon a knife and held over a flame, and it will almost immediately be entirely decomposed into gas and pass off into the air. The gas thus formed is a simple composition of nitrogen and hydrogen. No residue is left from the ammonia. This gives it its superiority as a leavening power over soda and cream of tartar used alone, and has indeed its use as a supplement to these articles. A small quantity of ammonia in the dough is effective in producing bread that will be lighter, sweeter, and more wholesome than that risen by any other leavening agent. When it is acted upon by the heat of baking the leavening gas that raises the dough is liberated. In this act it uses itself up, as it were; the ammonia is entirely diffused, leaving no trace or residue whatever. The light, fluffy, flaky appearance, so desirable in biscuits, etc., and so sought after by professional bakers, is said to be imparted to them only by the use of this agent.

The bakers and baking powder manufacturers producing the finest goods have been quick to avail themselves of this useful discovery, and the handsomest and best bread and cake are now largely risen by the aid of ammonia, combined of course with other leavening materials.

Ammonia is one of the best known products of the laboratory. It is now being justly claimed for it, the applications of its properties to the purposes of cooking results in giving us lighter and more wholesome bread, biscuit, and cake, it will prove a boon to hygienic humanity, and will speedily force itself into general use in the new field to which science has assigned it.

The Government Chemist Analyzes the Two of the Best Baking Powders Made of.

The best baking powder is made from pure Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, and a small quantity of flour or starch. Frequently other ingredients are used, and serve a purpose in reducing the cost and increasing the profits of the manufacturer. We give the Government Chemist's analyses of two of the leading baking powders:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder." Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, Flour.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder." Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, Carbonate of Ammonia, Tartaric Acid, Starch.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder. Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder. Note—The Tartaric Acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia.

E. G. LOVE, Ph. D. NEW YORK, JAN'y 17th, 1881. The above analyses indicate a preference for "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," and our opinion is that it is the better preparation.—[Hall's Journal of Health.]

Dr. Mott on Spess's Port Wine. The celebrated Dr. Mott, of New York, speaks in glowing terms of Spess's Port Wine. He says: "I have used Spess's Port Wine for many years, and I can say that it is the best I have ever used. It is a pure and healthy wine, and it is well adapted for medicinal purposes." Spess's Port Wine is made in the famous wine-growing region of Portugal, and it is the best of its kind in the world.

Light-headed—the blonde. Nothing Made in Yain. We are told that nothing was made in yain; but what can be said of the fashionable girl of the period? Isn't she a noble girl? Hood's Sarsaparilla is made in Lowell, Mass., where there are many more of the kind than of any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, and it is never taken in vain. It purifies the blood, strengthens the system, and gives new life and vigor to the entire body. 100 doses $1.
